VICTOR HUGO'S GREAT NOVEL.
COMPLETE IN FIVE VOLUMES.
CARLETON'S EDITION.

LES MISERABLES—VALJEAN.
The FIFTH PART and last of HUGO'S Great Novel is now ready.

The parts are:
PART I.—FANTINE. PART II.—COSETTE.
PART III.—MARIUS. PART IV.—ST. DENIS.
PART V.—VALJEAN.

Such works as this appear but once in a century. "Les Misérables" is to be highly designated a novel by its author, for the novel is but a screen behind which the master sits proclaiming as with authority the grandest and most vital truths. The Parables of Christ have had in essence and purpose no more successful imitator. Victor Hugo is in the decline of life; he has been an author of mark for more than a quarter of a century; he is an exile and outlaw because he is a republican and will not abridge his faith; yet not a trace of bitterness, of sarcasm, deforms these superb volumes. Royalists, imperialists, aristocrats, conservatives, may peruse them without aversion, for their author has risen through observation, reflection, experience, suffering, to that serene light whence is comprehend the good in evil, the truth in seeming falsehood, and the benignant uses which Omnipotent Wisdom extracts from human frailty, hypocrisy, bigotry and crime.
